Distance Education:  Participation, Demographics and Course Success

March 2017

Santa Ana College offers a wide range of distance education sections each semester, predominately via online delivery.  As this type of learning gains in popularity, it is important to continually assess enrollments and outcomes so that we may remain current with the course variety and content needs of our community and the students we serve.  This publication demonstrates the differences of online course offerings at SAC as compared to the traditional classroom delivery, including number of sections offered, student demographics, course success and retention.

Summary of Findings

Overall, the number of sections offered in distance education in Fall 2016 increased from Fall 2014 (155 to 199; 28 percentage points). Web section offerings continue to increase since Fall 2014 (102 to 150; 47 percentage points), while the number of hybrid (combination of online with some campus visits) sections dropped (from 55 to 49; 11 percentage points).  On average, both headcounts and enrollments in web classes increased since Fall 2014 (45% and 43% respectively); however, headcounts and enrollments for hybrid classes dropped during the same time period (-9% and -13% respectively).   Distance education classes are defined by delivery type (web based or hybrid); therefore, data is broken down even further to assist program staff in defining specific strategies for specific teaching delivery.

Demographics
- The largest group of students who enroll in web-based classes are young; more than half (63%) of all distance education students at SAC are 25 years of age or younger.
- More than three-fifths (60%) of the students who enroll in distance education classes are female.
- Distance education students at SAC are ethnically representative of the student body at large. Latino's enrollment in distance education has increased five percentage points in the last two years.

Enrollments, Course Success, Retention

The Distance Education Program at SAC is an offering of a variety of sections in a variety of subject areas. Therefore, it is challenging to compare one mode of teaching to another based on the grades given by one teacher, one section. Percent distributions are significantly influenced by small sample sizes and caution should be used when comparisons are made. Many classes were offered in one method of instruction and do not have comparison data.

- In most cases, web classes (Spring 2016 and Fall 2016) have slightly lower success for similar courses offered in traditional classrooms (64% to 66% versus 65% to 67%).
- Hybrid course total success rate is also slightly lower than the traditional course total success rate (62% to 64% vs. 65% to 67%).
- Both web and hybrid classes have slightly lower retention rates (80% to 82%) compared to traditional classes (82% to 83%).
- Detailed course success and retention rates (by subject/course/ticket for Spring 2016 and Fall 2016 (by semester) are included below.
